Former United States Senator Call, of Florida, had not regained consciousness at a late hour last night. His death is momentarily expected.

Forest fires are still sweeping the forests of Montana, destroying small settlements and driving hundreds of fugitives from their homes. Many have perished in the flames.

Omaha, Neb., Aug. 19.—Although Governor Shallenberger apparently has been defeated by Mayor Dahlman for the Democratic nomination, he may still go on the ticket as the Populist nominee. Gov. Shallenberger was the only candidate for the gubernatorial nomination in the populist primaries.

ASSIGNMENT OF TEACHERS

Superintendent B. Hamlett Gives Out List of Assignments.

FEW CHANGES MADE.

Additional Room Must Be Used At West Side School.

Next Monday morning, at nine o'clock, the thirty-third session of the Hopkinsville Public Schools will open.

The schools are opening one week earlier, in order that they may close earlier, and avoid the depressing weather of June.

The enrollment is expected to be larger, in all departments, than ever before. It is necessary, on account of the crowded condition in the old Clay Street School, to move out of that building the combined fifth and sixth grades taught last year by Miss Annie Cox to Room 4 in the West Side school. The fourth grade of the West Side School will occupy the office room in that building. This will work some hardships on some of the patrons of the school, but it appears to be absolutely the only thing possible for this present year. We can look forward to the good times coming when the big new High School will be completed, and the city schools redistricted, as they should be.

When this is done, there will be conducted full eight grade schools in each of the three districts in the city, outside of the high schools. Until the High School is completed, and the congestion thereby relieved, the management of the school earnestly asks that the people be patient and stand by them in doing the best that can be done under present conditions, by being willing to endure for one more year only the hardships necessary under present crowded conditions.

The assignment of teachers for the session of 1910-1911 is as follows:

RACE SUICIDE KILLS SHAKERS

And the Question is, Who Will Get Their Vast Accumulation of Wealth.

The following articles on the passing of the Society of Shakers will be read with interest in this section, as we have near Auburn one of the very few remaining Shaker villages in the United States. The article appeared in Sunday's Louisville Herald as a special from England, Conn. The Shakers of America are worth $20,000,000. They own land in eight states, in the aggregate 82,000 acres. Their wealth is piling up, as invested wealth will.

Yet Shakerism is a failure. The Shakers themselves tacitly acknowledge that it is a failure. After over a hundred years of prosperity, the "United Society of Believers" is planning to sell its vast holdings of farm lands and other property and dissolve its organization.

Fifty years ago there were 5,000 Shakers in this country. Twenty years ago there were perhaps 4,000. Today there are barely 500, and most of these who remain true to the creed of the "Shaking Quakers" are old. As a business enterprise the society has been strangely successful. As a spiritual body it has been unable to hold its own. The Millennial church is doomed.

The fundamental tenet of the Shakers is that the marriage relation is the root of human depravity.

"We do not condemn marriage," said Archbishop Holden, the "King of Shakers," recently, "but when a man becomes a Shaker, a vow of MOTHER ANN'S RULE.

Mother Ann Lee, who founded Shakerism in America, held that this present life is enough to occupy all one's attention; that the less time devoted to speculation on the future existence, the better. This is the rule of life she laid down:

"Live as though you may live a thousand years and as though you may die tomorrow."

celibacy must be made. Married life is right enough for some persons it is the natural life, not it is not the spiritual life, and if one desires the higher existence, he must practice self denial."

Half a century ago, the society found no difficulty in getting recruits, both men and women, to swell its various colonies of celibates. Now the work of the proselytizers is in vain. The world will have none of the Shaker brand of race-suicide.

So, by the irony of fate this society founded expressly with a view to getting away from the plane of this carnal everyday world to a spiritual plane unpolluted by material things, finds itself dwindling away to nothingness, while the carnal millions that have born of Shaker frugality and thrift, pile up to worry the declining days of the few remaining members of society.—Auburn Advocate.
